

Stan Price - Detail in a Day

Glass Painting and Coloring

Even Beginners Who Can't Draw Can Be Successful With This Technique

Saturday, February 12 from 9am to 4pm
or Sunday, February 12 from 9am to 4pm

$125 tuition (no discounts or coupons)

$125 tool/supply fee is due at the start of class

Supply fee includes the Peter McGrain Painting Kit (a $130 value)

If you already own the painting kit, supply fee is $35

Using traditional glass painting materials, you'll learn tracing, matting and highlighting to create detail. Then, we detour from tradition to bring color into your project, using colored glass to create unusual and one-of-a-kind art objects.

In this hands-on class, each student will complete a 6" tile while learning the skills. This is a fantastic opportunity for anyone who is interested in learning as much as they possibly can in a single day.

Please bring to class:

Safety Glasses

Glass Cutter and Pliers

Always wear closed-toe shoes to class

The Fine Print: Because of the nature of a class with a visiting artist, tuition for this workshop is absolutely NON-REFUNDABLE. In case of absence, no store credit will be issued.
There are no "make-up" sessions available.
